

The Society for Creative Anachronism Inc.

The Shire of Rising Stone
Murfreesboro, Tennessee
(615) 238-7874 chuckrainey@crainey.com

Media Advisory

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
October 22, 2009

Contact: Chuck Rainey
Phone: (615) 238-7874
Home: (615) 287-9061 after 6 p.m.

Who: King Ailgheanan of Meridies and the Shire of Rising Stone,
Society for Creative Anachronism Inc.

What: Regional War Practice

When: April 17 at 1 p.m.

Where: Old Fork Park, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The Shire of Rising Stone Hosts Regional War Practice!

MURFREESBORO – King Ailgheanan of Meridies and Rising Stone, the local chapter of the Society for Creative Anachronism Inc, are hosting a regional war practice for warriors from Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

Andrew Coleman of Murfreesboro is currently king of Meridies, a three-state region of the society. Coleman will be conducting training and maneuvers with 50 or more armored soldiers, in preparation for Border Raids. Border Raids is an SCA war fought every June for ownership of the lower portion of Kentucky.

The SCA is a nonprofit educational organization, with more than 100,000 members around the world. The SCA studies and recreates history from the sixth to the 16th centuries and ensures that the best parts of the past are not forgotten. Local groups spend much of their spare time researching history in preparation for weekend and weeklong events. Events are held at state parks, summer camps and private retreats. The society began May 1, 1966 in Berkeley, Calif. For information, visit the Web site at www.sca.org.

